Scottish Women’s Convention
International Women’s Day  2015
‘Act Local, Think Global’

The SWC are delighted to be able to bring women together from different backgrounds and of diverse ages from throughout Scotland on International Women’s Day. We always look forward to celebrating with all women attending.

Agnes Tolmie
Chair of the Scottish Women’s Convention
Elaine Smith MSP, Deputy Presiding Officer

“I look forward to welcoming women from across Scotland to the Parliament to celebrate their many achievements and to give recognition to the role that women play in society. Every year, I am impressed by the inspirational stories of women who are given a platform at this event to share their experiences from their own unique perspective.”

Nicola Sturgeon MSP
First Minister of Scotland

Saima Lawson
Women are the backbone of our communities, both economically and socially. We make up over 50% of the population, but we are under-represented in far too many areas. What women do for their families, communities and society as a whole is invaluable. It is vital that this is recognised. It is also important that the women are encouraged and supported to become more engaged with political and public life.
