Technology & Climate
Roundtable

Every day, technology is changing how we live our lives. From something as simple as communicating with each other through to how we shop, travel, work and learn, technology can also play a role in tackling climate change through the creation of new ideas and more sustainable ways of living.

As technology and climate change continue to shape our future, women’s voices and experiences are more important than ever. Our event is an opportunity for women to come together to talk about what these changes mean for them.

Whether you’re passionate about these topics or simply curious, please come along and join our conversation on the day.

Your Community, Your Say, Women's Priorities Conference

Community spaces such as libraries, town halls, sports and leisure facilities play a vital role in building social connection, reducing inequality and tackling discrimination. Yet across Scotland, these spaces are disappearing.

Women across Scotland have consistently highlighted the importance of community spaces in their lives, while also raising concerns about funding cuts limiting their availability. This conference brings women together to share their experiences and ideas and to call for greater investment in the community spaces that help build stronger, more connected communities.

Saturday 29th August
11.00am - 3.00pm

All women across Scotland are invited to participate...
your voice matters!

Closing 10th August

Women's Priorities for 2026/27 Survey

It's that time of year again our annual survey is open, and we want to hear from you. Every year, we ask women across Scotland what matters most to them.

This year, we're asking for your views for 2026–2027, and how you think these areas could be improved. Your answers will feed directly into our Women's Priorities Report, helping us assess whether the Scottish Government's Programme for Government for 2026/27 truly reflects what women want and need.

This survey is open to all women aged 16+ living in Scotland, please take a few minutes to share your views and pass it on to family, friends and your networks.

The more voices we hear, the stronger and more representative our report will be. Your voice matters. Help us make sure it's heard.

Survey closing: Monday 10th August
